

Six Senses New York

Six Senses New York, the group's first North American property, occupies ten floors of The XI, a new architectural icon which rises above the Hudson River and world-famous High Line in vibrant West Chelsea. The two curved towers are the inspiration of renowned architect Bjarke Ingels. The contemporary and playful interiors are designed by celebrated Parisian firm Gilles & Boissier. Neutral colors and natural materials create a sense of tranquility, while local artisans also bring to life their take on Manhattan through individual artworks featured throughout the hotel. Two restaurants and one café showcase the brand's culinary approach, which focuses on fresh, seasonal and locally sourced ingredients. Six Senses Spa introduces pioneering high-tech and high-touch wellness through an intuitive mix of science and human awareness. All elements of the hotel encourage connection, community and celebration. Opens in 2020.

- Located on 18th street between 10th and 11th avenues, the vibrant West Chelsea neighborhood is loved for its art galleries, museums, shopping and dining
- 136 spacious hotel rooms and suites
- All Six Senses New York guests have access to Six Senses Place: a 45,000 square foot (4,180 square meter) social club at the intersection of connection, community and celebration
- 18,000 square foot (1,670 square meter) Six Senses Spa with Integrated Wellness programs
- Eat With Six Senses philosophy

MEETINGS AND EVENTS

Two meeting rooms each at 1,000 square feet (93 square meters) can be combined to seat up to 150 people classroom style and 120 banquet style. There are also several indoor and outdoor meeting and event spaces across the hotel, including private dining rooms at Six Senses Place

DINING

The two restaurants and café within the hotel showcase the brand's Eat With Six Senses culinary approach to wellness. The modern, upscale brasserie focuses on mixology, natural and local ingredients and biodynamic wines. A second restaurant tucked under The High Line showcases the cuisine of a celebrity chef. A café on the second floor has a terrace overlooking The High Line and is a perfect spot for breakfast, light lunches, smoothies or cocktails. The seasonal rooftop organic garden invites guests to pick their own herbs for freshly made cocktails and light bites.
